This seminar gives an overview of the claims filing process, the determination process, and appeal rights. We will show you the forms that an employer may receive when a claim is opened, how they are used to determine the claimant's eligibility and to protect the employer's liability, discuss the specific time frame to respond to these forms and the importance of responding timely.

The seminar will also explain how the UC Service Center discovers whether the person quit or was discharged, the fact-finding process, burden of proof, the factors that are considered when making a determination, and appeal rights.
